BOARD OF TRADE TO HOLD PICNIC

Annual Affair at Brookline
Square Club Next Wednesday.

BASEBALL A FEATURE

Narberth business men will amuse themselves Wednesday afternoon at an outing to be held at the Brookline Square Club. This annual picnic was originally scheduled for last Wednesday, but was postponed because of conflicts with two similar affairs.

A committee consisting of William H. Fowler and Fred Walzer have been working on plans for the affair. Baseball will probably be the principal sport.

In addition to the national pastime, facilities are there for tennis, swimming, pool and bowling, to say nothing of quoits. The affair will begin about 1.30, as soon as the business men can reach Brookline after the stores are closed for the day.

Following the sports of the afternoon a dinner will be ready at the club. A fee of $2.25 for the meal also includes the baseball privileges. Swimming and tennis will be paid for by those using these facilities.

Those attending, whether merchants or guests, should get their names in by Monday to Postmaster J. Bertram Nesper, secretary of the Narberth Board of Trade, sponsors of the affair.

FAME OF NARBERTH SPREAD THROUGH NATION BY LOCAL NURSERY GROWERS

Oriental Flowering Trees Trace Their Popularity to Efforts of
A. E. Wohlert—Barclay Another
National Advertiser.

Articles of general interest concerning local people and places have been published in "Our Town" from time to time. We wish to carry these special informative stories more frequently in the future, and will appreciate information from readers on possible subjects.

Fame comes to cities and towns in various ways. The residence of a famous personage, the location of a great factory, the scene of some historical event—all of these are means whereby the name of a place must be spread.

Greater than all these, frequently, is the power of national advertising. When a town is given as the address by men sending their messages forth into millions of homes through magazines, that address becomes known everywhere.

Narberth's claim to fame of this sort rests largely upon the work of two firms. These two are the only concerns doing a national business from Narberth, and, strangely enough, both are in the same line of work—nurserymen.

A. E. Wohlert, with his Garden Nurseries, and Hugh Balfour Barclay, specializing in ground cover plants, are the two men who have been instrumental in carrying the name of the borough far beyond its borders. Narberth's third nursery—Albrecht's—concentrates its efforts within nearby territory.

Mr. Barclay's magazine advertising has been written principally upon Pachysandra Terminalis, an evergreen ground cover which he propagates in vast quantities. Although a much younger enterprise than that of Mr. Wohlert, the name of Narberth is seen frequently as headquarters for this plant.

Japanese flowering trees have been the specialty on which Mr. Wohlert has built a nationally-known business—in fact, a business better known at a distance than it is here in Narberth.

In addition to the national publicity given the trees through the wonderful displays in Washington, the Garden Nurseries have come in for particular mention recently in the trade publications devoted to the nursery business. In the Florists' Exchange and

NARBERTH BEATS WHISKERED TEAM

Martin's Home Run Clinches
7 to 5 Win Over House of David.

GREAT CROWD ATTENDS

Never before in the annals of Narberth was there a more valiant victory, a more unique performance of our National Sport than in the gruelling contest with The House of David who bowed to defeat in a twilight game which went to nine innings. Out of the West came the widely known nine leaving behind them reputed havoc, tabbing up victory after victory only to be stopped by the Waltzermen on the memorable evening of July 19.

Their flowing beards did not cramp their playing style, but inspired a local barber to send a "Sandwich man" to the field with advertisement of his shop.

As most of the games are begun, Narberth trailed till the third, were swamped in the fifth and came through like the original Czars of the Diamond. It would be merely mentioning nine men in the attempt to honor the players who aided in defeating the Benton Harbor Boys, but Vernie Fleck and Martin must be honored twice.

Vernie aided materially in pulling high pops in out of the breeze and Martin, catching for Hampshire who was injured by a fast ball, had the 2000 fans in an uproar as he surprisingly clouted a four sacker with Babb on second, thus breaking the 5-5 score which the visitors fought to maintain, and closing the game in a burst of glory.

Master on the mound the first four innings and Bill Durbin relieving him in the fifth pitched in fine style, allowing only seven hits compared to 16 off Mallaney.

One of the rare sights in this contest was the Clown first baseman who entertained the record breaking multitude by singing, accompanied with a banjo and at intervals performing comical acts to the approval of the fans.

The first inning contributed one run to each team as rival mounds-men began to hurl for supremacy.

Sciulan opened on Walt with a single and Keny followed with a double advancing Sciulan to third. Kinsay singled forwarding Sciulan for run number one.

HURT BY MOVING TRAIN

H. P. Crawford Falls Beneath Car at Narberth Station.

When he attempted to board a moving train at Narberth station Thursday, Harry P. Crawford, 117 Merion avenue, was painfully injured.

Mr. Crawford, in running for the 8.59 train, attempted to board one of the rear platforms after the train had started. Losing his grip, he slipped and fell beneath the rapidly-moving cars. Spectators, seeing his fall, were certain he had been killed, but with quick presence of mind he had held himself between the train and the station platform.

He was painfully cut and bruised about the arms, head and upper part of his body, with possible slight internal injuries. He was rushed to the Bryn Mawr Hospital, but was able to return home later in the day. He will be confined to his home for some time, it was stated Thursday night.

Mr. Crawford is the son of Mrs. George B. Crawford, with whom he makes his home. This is the second accident of a similar nature at Narberth station within the past few months. A young woman was badly hurt, mangle her hand, when she fell while attempting to board a moving train.

DUES REDUCED

The Narberth Tennis Club announces that dues for the second half of the season beginning July 15 are reduced one-half for junior and associate members ($5.00), and for old senior members who were not on the club roster at the beginning of last year ($15.00). Beginning this week seven courts will be in use, two of which will be reserved after the tournament for junior and associate members. This will insure the boys, girls and women of the club playing accommodations.

REPORT LOCAL BOY MISSING AT SHORE

William W. Duer, Jr., Vanished From Uncle's Home
Last Week.

STUDENT OF L. M. H. S.

Considerable alarm is being felt for the safety of William Walton Duer, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Duer, of Windsor avenue, who disappeared from Atlantic City Thursday, July 12.

"Billy," who is 18 and a student at Lower Merion High School, had been employed for several summers at the shore ice cream factory of his uncle, Otto Bettel. It was while performing an errand for his uncle that he vanished.

According to his father, he was sent last Thursday by his uncle to a store on Atlantic avenue. He completed his call, and started to walk back, but never reached home. No definite clue as to his whereabouts has been discovered.

Police of Atlantic City and other shore resorts have been making a careful search, and flyers have been sent out to other points. On the Monday following the disappearance a boy acquainted with young Duer reports having seen him on the boardwalk. On that same afternoon a telephone call was received from Ocean City, in which a girl, claiming to be a schoolmate of Billy at Lower Merion, stated she had

TAILOR GROUP HAS PARADE AND PICNIC

100 Attend First Outing of Newly Formed Main Line
Association.

MARCH THROUGH HERE

Over 100 persons attended the first annual picnic of the Main Line Tailors, Cleaners and Dyers' Association held Wednesday in Memorial Park, Schwenksville. Formed this spring, the association numbers among its members the majority of the tailors and cleaners doing business on the Main Line.

The outing was preceded by a parade of motor cars from Bala to Malvern. Forming at City Line, 9 A. M., the cavalcade proceeded up Bala avenue to Montgomery pike to Haverford avenue, Narberth; along Haverford avenue, Wynnewood avenue, out Wynnewood road to Lancaster pike; along Lancaster pike to Malvern and thence through Norristown to the Ridge pike and on to Schwenksville.

Canoeing, bathing, dancing and a sports program took up the time of the picnicers at the park with a brief intermission for a basket luncheon. The return trip home began early in the evening.

On the sports program was the traditional baseball game between the married men and the single. The benedicts won by a score of 13-9.

Other events included a 100-yard dash for fat men, won by Samuel Rosengarten, of Philadelphia; a baseball throwing contest, won by Miss Rose Cannon, bookkeeper of the B. & G. Cleaners, of Bryn Mawr; and a spot dance in which the winners were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Siman, of Ardmore.

A tug-of-war was also listed for the sports program, but an official winner could not be determined in this as the rope did part and sent the sides sprawling. Impartial spectators insisted that the contest should be ruled a tie as each side came up with an equal amount of rope after the first distressing tug.

Another feature of the outing was the awarding of fountain pens to each of the officers of the association. The recipients of these were President Max Siman, Bryn Mawr; Vice President Vincent Troncelliti, Ardmore; Secretary N. S. Fiyi, Ardmore; Treasurer Alphonso Talone.

LINDY B. C. WINS

The Lindy Boys' Club scored a close victory over the Junior Athletics Wednesday by a score of 11 to 10. Bob Peterson was slightly hurt in the exciting ninth inning, when the victors scored four runs. The game was played on the Merion field.

CONTROL PARKING OF BASEBALL FANS

Traffic Jams at Field Make
Set of Rules a Necessity.

MANY CARS TAGGED

Rules governing the parking of autos near the playground during baseball games were established this week, after several large games had resulted in complete traffic tie-ups at that point.

Superintendent of Police Charles P. Smith worked out the new regulations Thursday evening in conference with Burgess Henry A. Frye. The study was made during the House of David game, when 500 autos were stored in the vicinity of the field.

The greatest congestion has occurred at two points—the corner of Wynnewood and Windsor avenues, and at the railroad tunnel on Wynnewood avenue. Cars have been parked so thickly and clumsily at the former point that traffic has been unable to get through.

The new rules permit parking on one side only on Wynnewood avenue from Windsor avenue to the bridge. Cars may park on the east side of the road, facing the curb diagonally, with a slant to the south.

North of Windsor avenue, parking is permitted only on the west side of Wynnewood, and parallel with the curb. Parallel parking is permitted on both sides of Windsor avenue, but must face in the proper direction. No cars may park at or near the railroad tunnel. There is plenty of room, and no restrictions have been placed over parking on lower Haverford avenue, back of the field.

Tags were placed on the cars of the most flagrant offenders Thursday night, with an invitation to appear at police headquarters in Ardmore Friday night.

Additional police will be assigned to the field for traffic control during the more important games, and firemen in uniform have taken over the patrolling of the field itself.

Under the direction of Captain Smith and Officer Frank Flynn, the jam of cars was completely cleared up nine minutes after the Thursday night game.

NARBERTH BOY WINS PRIZE

In a recent contest conducted by the Lovekin Water Heater Company, Alexander Thomas, of 523 Woodbine avenue, was awarded a handsome fountain pen.

Boys and girls in Philadelphia and its suburbs were asked to write letters on "How We Use Hot Water in Our Home," and Alexander was rewarded for the interesting, excellent letter he wrote.

He was presented with his prize at a party given in a Philadelphia theater, at which over 300 prize-winners and their friends were present. Moving pictures, the showing on the screen of the winning letters and the prize presentations made the occasion an enjoyable one for the guests.

A TREE IN NARBROOK PARK
An example of Malus Astrosanguinea, the Single Red, Late-Flowering Crab, in bloom before a Narbrook Park Home last spring.

Local Nurserymen Making Narberth Famous by National Advertising

INTENDED FROM THE FIRST PAGE
Horticultural Trade World, Narberth, through Mr. Wohlert, is given the credit for leadership in this field. The article takes up at considerable length the value of these beautiful ornamentals.

In 1926, when the Japanese Government decided to present 1500 of the trees to Fairmount Park, they procured them, not in the land of their origin, but from the borough of Narberth, a fact which might interest those who pass by when they are in bloom.

Recently many of them were presented by Mr. Wohlert to the borough in the form of a planting at the playground, and it is believed that these will be in full bloom, forming a wonderful display for passing trains, within a year or two.

Mr. Wohlert points with pride to a list of more than 50 parks in the country to which he has supplied the trees, and the list includes places as near as Narberth and Swarthmore, and as far as Oregon and the Hawaiian Islands. Narberth travelers might inspect this list, so that, in touring the country, they can walk up to one of these plantings and say, "Pretty, aren't they? They were raised in my home town."

The most recent plantings have been of a thousand trees each in Westchester county, N. Y.; St. Louis, Mo., and Newark, N. J. This fall 1000 of Mr. Wohlert's flowering crabs will be added to Washington's world-famous display.

The Garden Nurseries were established here in 1908 and have now grown far beyond their main grounds on Montgomery avenue. The importing and growing of the Oriental trees was begun by Mr. Wohlert 15 years ago.

In private life Mr. Wohlert resides in Narbrook Park and pursues his civic duties under the banner of the small local Democracy. Outspoken and critical, he has long wielded an influence in local governmental affairs.

The article crediting Narberth with leadership in the Oriental tree industry follows in part:

On this subject (the magazine says) Mr. Wohlert has recently written us briefly but interestingly in a letter which we quote herewith. Recollecting his prominent position in Eastern nursery circles (he is now president of the Pennsylvania Nurserymen's Association) and his constructive activity as a citizen and public servant in his community, one is the more impressed to find him so keenly alive to the possibilities of these plant introductions as garden subjects and as sources of profit for propagators and growers.

Japanese flowering Cherries, says Mr. Wohlert, are becoming increasingly popular with the public, and this popularity is well deserved, as they are one of the most striking features in the landscape where judiciously used. We had a row planted as street trees along our main front, but we decided to widen this public street five feet, and setting the curb back this distance took the trees and the old sidewalk. These trees created quite a sensation when in bloom; despite their being there year after year, motorists would invariably slow up their cars in passing while the trees were in bloom. I can well understand why Japan has given to one of the varieties the name "Mikurumagaeshi," which is said to mean "You will turn around and look back when you are being conveyed in your jinrikisha."

The Weeping Cherry is the most popular of all the varieties, probably because this tree shows the first splash of real color in the spring after the long and drab winter. The Weeping Cherry is also called the "Rosebud Cherry," as it is the first bright red or rose color flash you have in early spring.

The double flowering varieties are much more gorgeous, but have more competition when they bloom. Flowering Crabs of striking colors have preceded them, and while I think the double flowering varieties of Cherry are superior to the weeping sorts, the fact remains that the public notices the weeping variety more than they do the double ones. Perhaps because of the earliness as above stated.

The double flowering varieties are frequently taken for roses by the uninitiated. I hear and read once in a while about "Cherry trees that bear Roses." During the last few years the parks of our large cities have taken up the idea of fairly extensive plantings of flowering trees. While they probably have not confined themselves to Flowering Crabs and Cherries, these two varieties and the double flowering Peach are the fastest growing and most showy of all; and the most readily secured. Therefore, it is possible for the parks to make extensive plantings of these trees, and this they are doing. The advantage is, of course, that the public is intensively interested in anything that makes a grand display; the people in charge of the parks thoroughly realize that while the green park is very dignified and beautiful, something more than just foliage, be it ever so pretty, is necessary in order to get the attention of the multitude.

It is not generally realized, however, that many of the Flowering Crabs are ever so much more showy or conspicuous than are the Flowering Cherries. Somehow or another Japan is a land of mystery and anything that is Japanese is good; but just the same if I want a real splashy color, I would plant a great many of the very showy Flowering Crabs such as Malus atrosanguinea arnoldiana, floribunda purpurea, eleyi, scheideckeri, spectabilis, ioensis and bachteli, although the latter two, as well as scheideckeri and spectabilis, are not any more conspicuous in coloring than are the Flowering Cherries. Many of the Crabs (but none of the above mentioned) are strikingly beautiful when in fruit, particularly the Sieboldi varieties, M. toringio, sargentii, etc., and their crosses.

Of course, it is well known that the Flowering Peach grows fast and has the biggest splash of color of all the flowering trees.

In addition to the two nurserymen who are carrying Narberth's name into every State, a third business man is performing a similar function through a restricted group—stamp collectors. Tens of thousands of these philatelists have learned of the existence of our square mile of territory through the advertising of Ralph D. MacGuffin, stamp dealer, of Chestnut avenue.

BOY DISAPPEARS

alked with him at Ocean City that afternoon.

The informant refused to give her name and an immediate search of Ocean City by members of the family and police failed to reveal any trace of the missing boy. Neither report was fully substantiated.

His parents can offer no theory to account for his disappearance. None of his friends is missing, and he apparently had no feeling of dissatisfaction in either his home life or his job. Foul play or amnesia have been advanced as theories.

As Duer had often expressed a desire to get a position on a steamer, a search was made among New York shipping circles, but there seemed no chance that he had secured a job on a boat. His uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Howard, of Narberth, have also been unable to advance any theory.

Mrs. Duer is ill at the shore from the strain, and the father, an employee of the Pennsylvania Railroad, is aiding the police in the search.

Billy is described as very tall (nearly 6 feet 3 inches), slender, erect, with broad straight shoulders, black hair combed back with a part; dark blue eyes, small scar over right eye near hair line, thumb nail on left hand scarred with a ridge through nail, straight white teeth; straight, regular features; wore G-C shoe, mixed grey suit and soft grey hat.

His friends in Narberth and at the high school have been urged to aid in the search, communicating with the Atlantic City chief of police if any reliable clue is located. Rewards have also been offered.

"DESTINY BAY" DELAYED

Donn Byrne's Latest Story to Be Published in Fall.

Admirers of Donn Byrne have been anticipating with pleasure his new story, "Destiny Bay," which had been scheduled for publication sometime in the late summer. Because of his tragic death in Ireland in June, it will be well into the fall before the book is ready, the exact date not yet being known.

"Destiny Bay" is an Irish novel, written in what is considered to be Byrne's best manner, the story of proud old gentlefolks upholding the traditions of their race. Byrne's affection for his native country, its heroes and its legends was formed during his early years in County Down, but it was while he was gaining his living as an editorial writer in New York City that his researches led him to renew his interest in Irish folk lore. Out of these studies grew "Messer Marco Polo," which brought him into sudden fame. Several earlier short stories published by Harpers Magazine had earned literary distinction, but with the publication of "Messer Marco Polo" his audience was assured.

The library has copies of "Messer Marco Polo" as well as others of his which have been equally popular, as "Brother Saul," "Crusade," "Hangman's House" and "The Wind Bloweth."

Big Crowds Express Approval of Interesting Ball Games in Narberth

Having tabbed one in the opening inning Narberth chalked up two more; one in the third and another in the fourth. In the third Lindsay grounded to right field for a single and Gilfillan sacrificed Lindsay, who later crossed the platter as Babb binged to left.

In the following one, Master singled to right and McMonagle forced Walt out on second in a close play. Fleck, replacing Thomas, passed one as the leading base runner stole second and then doubled to right scoring McMonagle.

Despite this two run lead The Whiskered Boys passed their lead as they marked up four in the fifth. Smith gained first as the ball slipped out of Mac's hold and Mallaney doubled. Rogers blanked and Scitulan walked filling the bags. Keny singled to McMonagle, advancing Smith and Kinsay, forced Mallaney home as he passed four balls, and Scitulan stole home as Hampshire muffed one. Menzie fielded to Fleck, whereupon Keny took to the plate followed by Jimmy Reed's high bingle to Fleck.

By taking two more in the eighth, Narberth succeeded in tying the score 5-5. Mulligan and Durbin singled and McMonagle scored Mike from second and Fleck doubled admitting Durbin. Lindsay retired his comrades.

Having rallied so wonderfully, The House of David Nine began to play with more determination; resolved to take that one winning point, but Narberth upset the dope with two as Martin, batting for Hampshire, never looked so good as he did in that moment when he pushed the pill over center advancing Babb, who had previously singled and stole second as Babb passed one.

NARBERTH TIES WITH ORIENT SCORE 6-6

Master and Charlton Headliners in Third Game.

In one of the most brilliantly played encounters this season—and one full of suspense Narberth managed to overcome the heavy hitting of the Oriental Pros. as they played a 6-all game in their third meeting; each team having one scalp under their belt. The supremacy between the Oriental Pros. and the Narberth club must yet be decided. In spite of the visitors 11 hits which rewarded them with six runs, Narberth displayed excellent field co-operation as they retired men on bases when in critical positions.

"Mike" Mulligan for some unknown reason has put his foot into the bucket and doesn't seem to be able to get it out. He has, of late, earned himself a new title, The Acrobat. He surely can juggle that ball.

Walter Master's fielding and Charlton's hitting were features of this encounter. Walter was credited with avoiding defeat as he pulled a few hard bingles in out of the air when Narberth was in a jam.

Charlton, left fielder and hurler of the visiting team, was the leading hitter of the game. He collected a homer, the first run of the fray, a triple and a double.

In the initial inning, following Bogden's strike out and Zarterian's putout, Charlton, leading hitter of the Oriental Pros, clouted a four-sacker which was quickly followed by Carney's putout.

Immediately following, Narberth took the lead with two runs which was short lived as the score became 2-2 in the third.

McMonagle singled and Master sacrificed. Lindsay doubled, the rules of the Narberth Diamond preventing a triple whereby Mac took to the pentagon. Humphries sacrificed Lindsay and Gilfillan lifted a short one over the short stop's head, thus forwarding Roger.

The fourth was futile as far as scoring was concerned, both teams tabbing one. Facing Rothe, who relieved Murphy from the box Grenogh doubled and Desime singled to right field. McGowen singled forwarding Greenogh. Rothe pitched wonderfully to relieve Narberth from a tight hole as Martin singled and Duld walked filling the bases, but followed by Zanterian's fanning.

Gilfillan hoisted a hard bingle over left field for two bases, and Babb singled to the same place as Gilfillan was ousted stealing home. Hampshire took two bases on the left fielder's error scoring Thomas, running for Babb, who injured himself in a collision with the second baseman.

In the fifth inning Narberth took the lead again with three runs, but the visitors chalked up the same number as the score reached 6-6.

Thomas took first on first baseman's conspicuous error and Walter gained the plate as Desime, believing he might oust the left fielder, picked up the ball as it was about to roll over the foul line, but threw too late. Thomas and Master stole their respective bases as the visitors went into a coma. Lindsay singled, forwarding Thomas and then stole second as the Orientals began to come out of the ether. Humphries singled to right scoring Master and Lindsay. The feature of this inning was Hampshire's gaining first on a strike out. Having missed the last leave, the local catcher ran for first as Martin, opposing backstop, muffed the ball and threw to third to avoid Humphries home-coming whereby in the meantime Hampshire had touched the sack.

Martin and Duld singled, Duld advancing Martin to third. Bogden flied to center and Martin crossed; the fourth platter after Fleck received the hoisted bingle. Zarterian passed one and Duld stole second.

NARBERTH DEFEATS MAIN LINE TIGERS

George Babb Was Winning Hurler in Return Game.

In order to avenge themselves of a recent downfall at the hands of the Main Line Tigers, Ardmore Darkies, Narberth journeyed to Preston to defeat the "Fish-town" nine by an 11-1 setback. George Babb, local moundsman, hurling an airtight game, allowed only one hit, which turned into a run. He blanked seven men. In the sixth and seventh innings Babb went wild as he walked three men, but came through safely, avoiding any scoring.

Bob Gilfillan hit his third homer of the season, scoring three men, which aided the local team materially in their one-sided score. This was quickly followed by Babb's circuit clout as he pushed the cowhide over center, forwarding two men.

The only run the Main Line Tigers acquired was on account of a fielder's choice to first, neglecting the plate.

Unlike the poor showing Narberth made on July 11, when the visitors won, 9-1, they played brainy baseball in this second encounter, as may be seen from their 11 runs out of 11 hits. They took advantage of every man's hit, each one scoring after having reached first.

CLAIMS "WORST ROAD"

That a steep part of old Gulph road east of McClenaghan's Mill road, Wynnewood, is the worst paved public road in Lower Merion township is the complaint of J. Bedford Wooley, Wynnewood and Philadelphia architect, whose property, originally owned by the Montgomery School, is situated at the corner of the two highways.

"The road is in deplorable condition," he told the township commission at its meeting Wednesday night. "So much so that an oil company which had supplied fuel for our burner last year, refused to contract for delivery this year, asserting that it would cost $210 to haul $70 worth of oil over that stretch of road."

"We got a taxi out almost to our house once, but mud and ruts on that road were too much for its driver and he refused to risk his car any farther. No business house will deliver orders to my home, except for one boy who receives extra pay to circumnavigate the road with bottles of milk—and he comes on foot."

It was stated that Commissioner James A. Stretch had arranged last winter to have cinders dumped into ruts of the road for about 200 feet, but these were washed out soon afterwards. The matter was referred to the Highway Committee for action.

DETOURLESS ROADS

List of Untroubled Routes Prepared.

For the benefit of the motorists who plan a trip over the coming weekend the Keystone Automobile Club has prepared a list of the main highways on which no serious detours are effective.

This information is given because of the unusual condition in Pennsylvania, with construction work necessitating nearly 500 detours, varying in length from one to 40 miles.

The Lincoln Highway from Philadelphia west to Gettysburg is in perfect condition. With a short detour in Chambersburg the entire highway is in excellent condition as far west as Pittsburgh. Ridge pike, also known as the Benjamin Franklin Highway, is in good condition as far as Reading. The road from Reading to Pottsville is good.

The Bethlehem pike is free from detours. Tourists traveling to Baltimore by either the old Philadelphia pike or the Baltimore pike will find these roads in good condition, although both have some construction work on them in Maryland.

The Susquehanna Trail is excellent for its entire length, with the exception of a small detour north of Harrisburg, which is easily passed.

In New Jersey, the White Horse pike, over which so many persons will drive to the shore resorts, is in perfect condition. The Shore Boulevard, the connecting link between the White Horse pike and the shore resorts, is in perfect condition all along the coast. The Black Horse pike, the main road leading to Wildwood and Cape May, has a little construction work on it that will not hinder the motorist. There is a similar condition on the Harding Highway, which leads from Pennsgrove direct to Atlantic City.

The Lincoln Highway to New York is in excellent condition.

Shoe Gloves.

Fine, lightweight toe rubbers in all colors and in snakeskin printed rubber, can be had now fitted into their own case about the size of a folded pocket handkerchief.

AMBROSE T. KERRIGAN

Ambrose T. Kerrigan, Sr., an old resident of Bryn Mawr, died Tuesday, after having been an invalid for many years. He was for years a clerk in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Surviving him are his wife and two sons, Ambrose T., Jr., and Thomas, Lancaster pike, Haverford, and many other relatives in Narberth and Cynwyd. Solemn Mass of Requiem was celebrated 10 A. M. this morning in the Church of Our Mother of Good Counsel, Rosemont.

Gives Heat Advice

"Most of us are required to spend the greater portion of the summer at home. Consequently the vexatious subject of excessive temperature frequently arises. While it must be admitted that 80 degrees of heat, or even a few degrees less coupled with humidity, is not likely to add to one's comfort, there is not much reason to rant and rail at the situation," said Dr. Theodore B. Appel, Secretary of Health, Monday.

"There are many people who have developed a hot-weather complex. Their minds are absolutely set to a discomforting existence so long as summer remains. They fret, they worry and they complain. They frequently run to the thermometer and, noticing a rise, promptly become hotter and more miserable.

"While a hot, sticky atmosphere certainly is not as comfortable as a sharp, cool one, there is very little advantage in complaining about it. Why not make the best rather than the worst of it? Why not try to keep cool instead of deliberately getting hotter?"

"At a matter of fact, habits have much to do with keeping cool in summer time. A bit of applied care, and a great deal less complaining will remove much of the actual or imagined discomfort of the super-heated season.

"For example, there is the question of food. The body actually requires less nourishment in summer than during any other season of the year. The heat-producing foods should therefore be decidedly curtailed; these include starchy foods, sweets and meats.

"It is positively surprising what a difference will be noted if the summer diet is in the main reduced to vegetables and fruit. This will in no case create a hardship. Moreover, a strict adherence to this rule will still permit the use of the heavier foods on the cool days, which in Pennsylvania are mingled with the more torrid ones.

"So here are the rules for hot weather living:

"1. Eat sparingly of meats, starchy food and sweets—they are heat producers.

"2. Exercise (a long walk preferably) after sun-down.

"3. Avoid excessive exercise in the day.

"4. Keep the alimentary tract open.

"5. A daily bath.

"6. And finally, but by no means the least important, banish the hot weather complex.

"While following the above rules will not reduce the temperature outside of you, it will reduce your hot attitude toward heat. Remember, it always pays, under all circumstances, to keep cool!"

KIWANIS NOTES

The meeting of the Main Line Kiwanis Club, held at Whitehall, Haverford, Pa., on Tuesday.

The speaker at the meeting was the Hon. Fletcher W. Sites, of Narberth, who came to the members as an old friend who had served the Main Line for many years in the State Senate, as Burgess of the Borough of Narberth, and at the present time, Counsel for the borough.

Mr. Sites delivered a characteristically splendid address, in which he dwelt upon the important political problems for the day from a non-partisan standpoint, and held up the forefathers of this country as an example which should be followed by the modern voter.

The guests present were John S. Wilson, of Ardmore, the guest of Murdoch Clancy, Gordon M. Burlingame, of Bryn Mawr, the guest of M. P. Burlingame, S. A. Montgomery, of Bryn Mawr, the guest of Dr. R. Paul Lowery, and E. Wallace Miller, Jr., of Bryn Mawr, the guest of Howard Meredith.

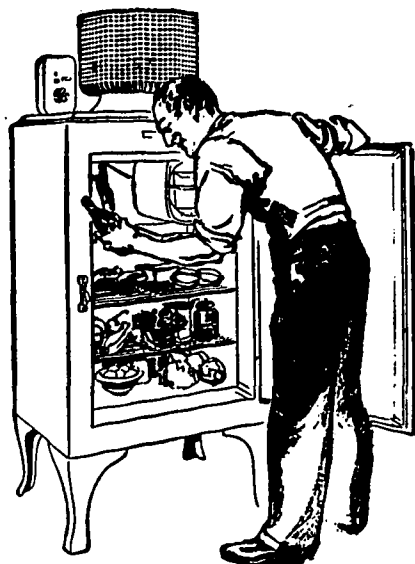

The attendance prize presented by Joseph H. Morris, was won by William L. Hayden, of Bryn Mawr.

During the course of the meeting announcement was made of the coming meeting on July 24, at which time the meeting will be held in the clubhouse of the new St. David's Golf Club, at Wayne, the program being in charge of Joseph Cairns, Jr., district trustee of the Main Line Kiwanis Club and a member of the St. David's Golf Club.
